

Abbott, Jacob, Regt. No. 168

Military Medal

London Gazette, January 14th, 1918

Action Date, October 9th, 1917 – Broembeek

On the evening of October 9th, 1917, the Transport were taking rations to the Battalion in the front line when a shell burst among them killing the Transport Officer, four of his men, and wounding another. These men, notwithstanding difficulties from shell fire, safely delivered the rations to Brigade Headquarters.