Sir:-

With reference to your letter of April 12th re the passage to this country for the wife and child of No. 1921 Taylor. I have spoken to Taylor about this, and he states that his wife and child left Ayr with him and proceeded to Liverpool, but had ~~stagnant~~ as far as Kilmareck before it was noticed that the child was very ill. Mrs. Taylor and child took the first opportunity back to Ayr, and a doctor was called who pronounced the child seriously ill. Taylor was unable to notify either you or Messrs. Furness Withy Coy., Ltd. until his arrival in Liverpool and it did not occur to him to send on a telegram; anyway he arrived in Liverpool the following day himself.

It is regretted that the Steamship Company involved a loss, and I trust you will explain to them that it was unavoidable.

Yours faithfully,

Lieut.-Col.,

Chief Staff Officer.

Sir,

I am directed by the High Commissioner to enclose herewith copy of a letter received from Messrs. Furness, Withy & Co., Ltd., regarding passages that were reserved from this office for No. 1921. Taylor, his wife and child, per the S/S "Digby."

The High Commissioner directs me to state that the strongest disapproval should be expressed to Mr. Taylor for his conduct in not informing Messrs. Furness, Withy & Co., Ltd., or this department, that passages for his wife and child would not be required, as it will be seen that the Steamship Company has been involved in a loss of £50.

Dear Sir,

S.S. "DIBBY".

You requested us to reserve accommodation in this steamer for Mr. Taylor, Mrs. Taylor and infant, and we accordingly did so, but when Mr. Taylor came forward to sail he told us that his wife and child were not accompanying him. As it was then too late to re-let the other berths in the room they had to go empty. Had we known in reasonable time, we could have accommodated two other adults, so that their not going in the steamer has lost us £50. in passage money.

Yours faithfully,
